Roo research lands
Alecia Smart Award

FORMER Ipswich girl Alecia Carter was successful in the Smart Women Smart State Awards last week.

Ms Carter, an Honours student at the University of Queensland’s School of Integrative Biology, was recognised in the Undergraduate Students (Science) category.

Her research involved designing a computer program which uncovered the benefits of relationships developed between female grey kangaroos.